

Perseus & Medusa

Perseus is the earliest of the great Greek heroes and the first king of Mycenae. This golden boy of mythology defeated the gorgon, Medusa. She had snakes for hair, and anyone, who gazed into her eyes, was instantly turned to stone. Perseus bested her using a mirror shield, one of the many gifts, that was given to him, from the gods.