Week 5

Message from the Headteacher

Mrs Ania Hildrey, Headteacher, headteacher@abbotsleaschool.co.uk

Dear Students, Families, Colleagues and Friends

Welcome to today's issue of the Head's Weekly Newsletter!

The first term is an odd one; by its very position in the academic year, it is a transitional one: transitioning into the school, into a new key stage or class or, in a very human way, quite simply getting to know one another, fine-tuning school activities and developing relationships. All that is complex to navigate and yet, we always get "there" in the end, ending the term with a greater clarity about what is what than when we start it.

Sadly, it is also a term during which we see the unfortunate impact - on students and the staff alike - of the "fresher's lurgy". I am sending my very best wishes for a speedy recovery to all those who are unwell at present and I thank all students and staff who were present this week for their amazing adaptive skills and flexibility in helping make sure that we continue to remain open to all students (even if with the very creative grouping or activities!).

With three weeks of this term remaining, I would like to launch a whole-school community charitable initiative: Socktober 2022!

Socktober is a Whitechapel campaign, aimed at helping those in need. A profound project, with a bit of fun and an invitation to all of us to take part. The plan is simple: on the last day of this term - Friday, 21 October - all students and staff are invited to wear "funky socks", and bring a £1 voluntary contribution towards the cause. Additionally, any person wishing to donate a brand new pair/pack of socks - in child or adult size - is warmly welcome to send it into the school from Monday until that last day of term, so that collectively, we can keep many feet warm this winter!

With the energy crisis affecting us all, it will be a lovely project to make a real, tangible difference to the world around us.

Our Key Stage 5 students will be promoting this event in the coming days and will assist in getting the donations to the Whitechapel.

Until then - I wish you all a very good weekend and I look forward to seeing you all soon!

With kindest regards

Mrs A Hildrey
Headteacher

Early Years and Key Stage 1

Ireland class

This week in Ireland class we have been working towards recognising familiar prints and logos. The boys and girls have recognised their own names and pictures of their families.

They have all worked hard practising their pencil control skills and developing their mark making. Ireland class have enjoyed getting ready for outdoor play in Autumn by wearing our wet suits and wellies to explore the outdoor learning area and play park.

The children love collecting the different coloured leaves and listening to them crunch under their feet. The children have also enjoyed engaging with phonics listening activities in small groups with their class friends.

Wales class

In their Maths work this week Wales Class have been looking at matching items and learning how to find two objects that are the same.

The children have been matching socks, Numicon pieces and lots of other things. 'Old McDonald' has proven to be the favourite Nursery Rhyme of the week with lots of requests for it and some of the pupils helped to build a farm yard out of blocks one day.

They have also been looking at print in the environment and had great fun decorating their first initial and hunting for different logos in the tuff tray. Have a wonderful weekend Wales Class!

Key Stage 4

Australia class

This week in Australia class we have thoroughly enjoyed European Languages week, exploring how languages differ whilst sampling some of the country's native cuisines.

In English we have developed our persuasive arguments for and against fast food and Maths we have moved on from sequences to round numbers.

In Food technology we have talked about the importance of food hygiene, preventing foods from becoming contaminated.

Samoa class

This week in Samoa, we have begun to get to know our peers a little bit better through activity and team work tasks.

In PE, we completed an 'across the river' race as a warm up activity. We got placed into a group outside of our usual circle of friends and had to communicate and use team work to cross the river!

In English we are studying our extract of Mary Anning. We have researched and found out more about Mary and her early life. We are going to take part in an outdoor curiosity hunt in our forest school.

In Maths, we have finished our topic of sequence and completed our end of topic review.

We have had such a positive start to our first term and the class team are so excited to see the progress throughout the year ahead!

Tasmania class

Tasmania had a fantastic week this week!

In English, we have been introduced to 19th century non-fiction text. We discussed briefly the events that took place during that period of time and read an extract 'Making a Fossil Hunter', All the Year Round. We highlighted unfamiliar vocabulary from the extract. We discussed the meaning of these vocabulary as a class and discovered some facts from the abstract. We also found evidence from the text to help us understand how the writer felt towards Mary Anning.

In Maths, we learned the basics of place values and practised multiplying whole numbers by 10, 100 and 1000. In Food Tech, we discussed what can be potential hazards in the kitchen. We learned about the different microbiological hazard and allergenic hazards. We also discussed on the different ways in which we can prevent hazards.

In Science, we revised on the differences between an animal and plant cell; and the level of organisation in multicellular organisms (cell, tissue, organ and organ system). We also identified the key organs in the human body and some of us have tried to locate where the organs might be in our bodies.

In Employability, we engaged in a zoom meeting where Mrs Tobin shared her stories and experience in learning foreign languages and how this had helped her in career building. In ICT, we practised more on Microsoft Word with font size, borders and shades editing.

Class News

New Zealand class

This week New Zealand class have been looking at non-fiction texts. The class took part in a wonderful discussion about the future and how important keeping the environment safe is and how sustainable living has changed the way we live now compared to the past. Some students had some really good opinions about what life would look like in the next hundred years.

Class News

Key Stage 5

Malawi class

This week has been an amazing week for Malawi class!!

In maths this week, we have focused on imperial measurements which can be tricky but students in Malawi class have done great with it.

In English this week, we have continued to read our class book survivor, and continued to look at fiction texts focusing on the NHS.

In food technology, we made a tasty meatball marinara. In science this week, we looked at different body parts and organs and gained knowledge on their role in the body.

Well done Malawi class, it has been an excellent week.

Papua New Guinea class

Class PNG have had a busy week. We have done some fantastic work on flags. Wow, the knowledge of our students on this is phenomenal. Well done all. Our work continues on the solar system. "Earth and Space", discovering how information on the solar system works.

We have also enjoyed some circuit work in PE.

Well done class PNG. You are all amazing!

Fiji class

Fiji class enjoyed an action-packed week 5. We began the week with European Day of Languages on the 26th September. Students tried foods and languages from different European countries.

In maths students have moved onto subtracting three-digit numbers with exchanging. Some students enjoyed working on word problems, putting their adding and subtracting skills to the test in practical examples.

In English, students worked on reading and understanding texts, working in small groups to answer comprehension questions.

Students cooked spaghetti Bolognese in Food Tech, working together to prepare mince meat, vegetables, and pasta in the appropriate ways. Students sampled their meal afterwards and reflected on how to make it even better.

In PSHE, students worked together to talk about appropriate social interactions, thinking about how their behaviour impacts real life situations.

Finally, Fiji class celebrated the birthday of one of our students. Happy 18th to them!

Well done Fiji class, we all look forward to the week ahead.

Class News

Christmas Island class

In ICT the class completed an online scavenger hunt where they used the internet to independently search for different information on the world wide web. In employability Christmas Islands explored the use of modern foreign language and how knowing different languages can benefit you throughout your life. They watched an interview with our Deputy Head Teacher Mrs Tobin about her knowledge of different languages and how she uses them in everyday life and in employment. They also enjoyed a European tasking board with different foods across the world, including pasta, chorizo and Swedish cheese.

In English we looked at different nonfiction text features such as glossaries, indexes, headings and subheadings. In maths lessons we have been revisiting rounding to the closest tens, hundredths and thousandths and applied this to their knowledge of money.

One of our students completed another week of GCSE maths lessons in SFX, looking at expressing a number as a product of its prime factors and worked on different past paper GCSE maths questions. In Geography accredited learning the class labelled capital cities in the UK and Europe and the distance between these places. In art accredited learning students explored all that there is to know about graffiti art, its culture and began to plan their very own graffiti art.

In gardening enrichment club, the students explored different plants that grow in the environment, completing fact files on different flowers and trees.

Christmas Island class also used some communication prompts to encourage social interaction amongst the class. They discussed things such as their favourite memories and what responsibilities they have at home and in school. In food tech this week the class made meatballs, we also celebrated a student's birthday this week with Fiji class, enjoying some social interaction time.
